NEW DEMOCRATIC TAX BURDEN TO EVERYBODY

President Wilson Has Signed the Measure.

CALLS FOR $105,000,000

Termed War Measure in Time of Peace—Mere Subterfuge to Make up Tariff Deficiencies—Hits the Individual Pocketbook.

President Wilson has signed the big Democratic tax bill imposing over $105,000,000 upon the people to make up the Democratic tariff deficiencies and while parts of the law will not become operative before December 17; other sections are immediately effective. Stamp taxes hit practically everybody. Here are a few of them:

Promissory notes, except bank notes for circulation and renewals, each $100, two cents.

Bundles shipped by freight and express, one cent.

Telegraph and telephone companies, one cent on each message over 15 cents.

Senders of telephone or telegraph messages, on each over 15 cents, one cent.

Deeds or reality transfers valued between $100 and $500, fifty cents.

Deeds, do., each additional $500, fifty cents.

Insurance of property, new or renewed policies, each $1, one-half of a cent.

Policies of insurance or bond of nature of indemnity for loss, each $1, one cent.

Passenger tickets by sea to foreign ports costing less than $10, one dollar.

Ditto, not exceeding $60, three dollars.

Ditto, exceeding $60, five dollars.

Perfumery, cosmetics, etc., vasoline, hair dyes, tooth washes, graded in values of 5 cents up to 15 cents, each 5 cents of value, one-eighth of a cent.

Ditto, valued from 15 to 25 cents, five eighths of a cent.

Ditto, each additional 25 cents retail, five-eighths of a cent.

Chewing gum, etc., valued less than $1 a unit, four-tenths of a cent.

Ditto, each additional $1, four-tenths of a cent.

Voting powers or proxies, ten cents.

Power to convey real estate, protests, twenty-five cents.

Palace or parlor car seat or birth, one cent.

The principal feature of the law is the tax on beer, which will be $1.50 a barrel, or 50 cents more than is imposed under the law that existed up to this time.

Certain special taxes are effective November 1 and include a dollar on every $1,000 of the capital, surplus and undivided profits of banks; brokers, $30; pawnbrokers, $50; commercial brokers, $20; commission merchants, $20.

Proprietors of theaters, museums and concert halls where an admission is charged, to be taxed as follows:

Where the seating capacity is not more than 250, $25.

Seating capacity not more than 500, $50.

Seating capacity more than 800, $75.

Seating capacity not more than 800, $100.

Proprietors of circuses, $100.

Proprietors or agents of all other public exhibitions or shows heretofore enumerated, $10.

Lecture lyceums (Chautauquas), agricultural or industrial fairs or exhibitions under the auspices of religious or charitable associations are exempt from this tax.

Bowling alleys and billiard room, $5 for each alley or table.

Tobacco dealers fifty thousand pounds annually, $6.

One hundred thousand pounds annually $12.

Over one hundred thousands pounds annually, $24.

Other tobacco dealers doing business of $200 a year, a shop, $4.80.

Carman Jury Disagreed.

The jury at Mineola which tried Mrs. Florence Carman for the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, on Sunday morning reported that they could not agree and were accordingly discharged. The jury stood ten for acquittal and two for conviction. Mrs. Carman was on Monday released on $25,000 bail. She has asked for a new trial. Mrs. Bailey, it will be recalled, was shot and killed while in the office of Mrs. Carman's husband, who is a physician.

LINEMAN ELECTROCUTED ON JOB AT ST. COLLEGE

Calvin Burris, of Axe Mann, Meets Instant Death.

WIDOW TO GET $2200

Bell Telephone Company Pension System Provides Payment to Her of Equivalent of Last Three Years of Husband's Salary.

J. Calvin Burris, a lineman in the employ of the Bell Telephone Co., was electrocuted while at work in the new Dairy Building at State College shortly after 4 o'clock last Thursday afternoon. He was in the act of pulling a telephone wire over some high tension electric wires when he came into contact with the latter and was instantly killed. Before his body could be released from the death-dealing wires it was necessary to shut down the electric power. It was stated that about 2200 volts passed through the unfortunate man's body. His left thumb was burned but his face showed no disfigurement. After his remains had been prepared for burial they were removed to his home at Axe Mann.

Funeral services were held from the Axe Mann Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. D. J. Frum, of Pleasant Gap. It was probably one of the largest funerals ever held in Centre County. Among those attending were a delegation from the Bellefonte Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, No. 206, of which the deceased was a member. The deceased was a son of Mrs. Samuel Burris, of Centre Hall. He is survived by his widow and these children: Mrs. Arthur Sunday, of Akron, Ohio; Samuel Burris, residing in the Nittany mountains; Mrs. William Shutt, of Bellefonte; William, of Reading; Mrs. George Kuhn and Mrs. Sylvester Young, of Akron, Ohio; Harry of Centre Hall; Mrs. Hewitt Brooks, of Axe Mann, and Miss Ida, at home. There survive also these brothers and sisters: Mrs. Ambrose Vonada, residing in Kansas; Mrs Philip Leister, of Potter township; Mrs. Jefferson Shaffer, of Altoona; Irvin Burris, of Georgetown; Lanson, of Gregg Station, and Charles, of Milroy.

As an employe of the Bell Telephone Co the deceased's widow becomes a beneficiary of the company's pension system and will receive the equivalent of his salary for the last three years. This will amount to approximately $2200. The same pension system provides for payment by the company of the funeral expenses, not exceeding $150.

PENNSYLVANIA DAY

Annual Celebration at State College on Friday, November 13th.

President Sparks has about completed arrangements for this year's celebration of "Pennsylvania Day", the date of which will be Friday, November 13th. All indications are that the festivities of the day will attract an immense throng of visitors to State College.

The exercises of the day will consist of an inspection of especially interesting class and practice work; an address by the Governor-elect of Pennsylvania, who will be introduced by Governor Tener; a review of the regiment of college cadets; the presentation of two flag staffs by the Pennsylvania State Camp, P. O. S. of A.; a glee club concert; and a game of football between Penn State and Michigan Agricultural College. During Friday and Saturday, there will be interesting exhibits by the students of the School of Agriculture and the Department of Electrical Engineering in connection with the opening of new buildings, together with more formal dedications on Saturday afternoon.

By this varied program it is hoped to give visitors a glimpse of the life of the twenty-five hundred students now enjoying the benefits of an education provided largely by the munificence of the state. Special provision will be made to care for representatives of the press, if notification of arrival is sent in advance.

The members of the various fraternities invite all college guests to attend their house-party dances on the evening before Pennsylvania Day.

The University (Faculty) Club, located at 331 West College Avenue, offers the freedom of its new house to all who receive this invitation to attend the exercises of Pennsylvania Day.

Freight Wreck at Martha.

Monday morning nine loaded coal cars wrecked east of Martha, badly damaging the cars and ripping up over 300 feet of track. The wreck was caused by a broken rail. Passengers on the morning trains were transferred at Martha. No one was injured.

Remarkable Campaign Drawing to a Close.

One of the most remarkable campaigns ever conducted in Pennsylvania is nearing a close and the verdict will be registered at the polls on Tuesday, next. With the prizes at stake including a seat in the United States Senate and the Governorship, the most remarkable feature of the campaign is an apparent lack of interest on the part of the people. There is little or no discussion of the merits of candidates or issues, nothing more than a more or less indifferent exchange of the query: "Well, how do you think the election will go?"

That the people have made up their minds how they are going to vote is the one explanation of the absence of excitement which has characterized so many campaigns in the past. The prevailing belief is that the pendulum is swinging back to the Republican column, that the people have made up their mind to vote that way, and for weeks past have been merely waiting to cast their ballots. This is attributed to dissatisfaction with depressed business and enforced idleness of thousands of working men.

In bringing his campaign to a close Senator Penrose has expressed the confident belief that he will be re-elected by a decisive plurality. He has waged a campaign which has taken him into virtually every section of the State. The final hours of the contest have witnessed Congressman Palmer, the Democratic candidate for Senator, and Gifford Pinchot, the Washington party nominee, assailing each other and each voicing the belief that the other cannot be elected. On Monday Colonel Roosevelt was brought into Pennsylvania to campaign for Pinchot and McCormick. He has been greeted by large crowds, traveling by special train and making a personal appeal to voters to vote against Penrose and Brumbaugh and in favor of Pinchot and McCormick, the latter the Democratic candidate for Governor and a firm supporter of the Wilson-Underwood free trade law. Brumbaugh's election is confidently predicted by the Republican leaders.

In Centre County a general lack of interest has prompted the belief in both Republican and Democratic quarters that not more than 75% of the normal vote will likely be polled. Should unfavorable weather prevail this may drop to 65 or 60%. Impartial observers believe that Senator Penrose will carry Centre County by from 100 to 200, and that the county may go for McCormick by about the same figure, due to the fact that he is on both Democratic and Washington tickets. Pinchot's probable vote in the county is estimated at about 800, and not likely to exceed this unless Roosevelt's present campaign tour creates an uprising, of which there is no indication at this writing.

For Congress there is every reason to anticipate a plurality for Charles H. Rowland, of Philipsburg, on the Republican ticket. He is being opposed by W. E. Tobias, of Clearfield, who will be cut by some Democrats, and Guy B. Mayo, Washington party candidate. The latter has made no particular campaign in Centre County. Reports from over the district are favorable to Rowland, with the battleground likely to be in Clearfield County.

For State Senator Dr. Samuel J. Miller, of Madera, has made a fairly active campaign in Centre County. He is opposed by W. H. Patterson, Democratic, and A. S. Moultrop, Washington, both of Clearfield. Moultrop has done little or no campaigning in this county, while Patterson has been much more active. For the Assembly there is also a three-cornered fight, again making the result one surrounded by more or less doubt. Harry B. Scott, the Republican nominee, has made a clean, consistent campaign and goes before the people on Tuesday with the one pledge that if elected he will honestly and faithfully represent any expressed wish of a majority of his constituents. He is opposed on the Democratic ticket by David W. Miller, of Ferguson township, and H. H. Ashman, of Philipsburg, on the Washington ticket. Miller's campaign has been waged in his behalf by making local option the foremost issue. Ashman is also committed to local option. Ashman has waged the most active canvass of the three candidates, but with what effect on the chances of Scott will not be known until the vote is counted.

Vote the Straight Republican Ticket.

In a time of doubt play safe. "Safety first" is a pretty good rule for any man to follow. It applies with particular force in the political campaign which closes on Tuesday, next. Theories and experiments are always dangerous at best. Steer clear of them when the business world is halted by uncertainty, when the country is filled with an army of unemployed. If there is a decisive Republican victory at the polls next week it will go a great way toward bracing up business, putting new confidence in investors and helping the unemployed to find work.

We have tried the Democratic plan, and results speak for themselves. Now lets get back to Republican principles and Republican prosperity. Its the safest thing to do, and therefore the best. Take no chances. Play safe. Vote the straight Republican ticket.

THE POOR MAN'S BURDEN

A hundred million dollars,
All standing in a row,
A hundred million tax bills,
Each one a tale of woe,
Perchance you think they miss'd you,
Take note, I said perchance,
They quietly play the music,
While all you do is dance,
A donkey making music,
It makes us laugh, "By Gee,"
And dancing to its cadence,
Is costly you'll agree,
Each time you smoke tobacco,
You pay your little tax,
If food shall pass your palate,
You can't escape the ax,
Your children like the movies?
It hits you here as well,
If you can spy a loophole,
I plead with you, please tell.

AUTO GOES OVER HILL; SIX HAVE CLOSE CALL

Car Rolls Down Steep Bank and Lands on its Back.

LATE NIGHT COLLISION

A remarkable automobile accident, in that nobody was seriously injured, occurred late last Saturday night when a 7 passenger Franklin car, driven by Joseph Parker, of State College, plunged down a steep embankment just beyond the Mallory blacksmith shop, and after turning completely over several times landed on its top. In the ill-fated car at the time of the mishap were five persons in addition to Mr. Parker. The latter says that he was still at the steering wheel when the car rolled over for the second time, and that he then found himself flying in the air. He landed with a violent thud on the ground near by the machine, and after recovering his senses found that the five passengers were still underneath the car. Fortunately for them it was an old-type, high seated machine, and to this fact and the additional one that the top was up, the occupants probably owe their escape from serious injury if not worse. Parker ripped off the side curtains and helped the five passengers to crawl from underneath the wrecked machine.

Just how the accident actually happened is a matter regarding which there are conflicting versions. David Louck, also of State College, was heading out the pike toward the Nittany Iron Co. about 11 o'clock at night. He was on the main pike, extending from beyond the Academy. Parker, driving his Franklin car, was also heading for State College, having traveled out Water Street and turned off to the left this side of the old Phoenix mill. Louck had passed the Mallory blacksmith shop and was moving down the slight hill just as Parker came up to the junction from the lower road. According to Parker's story his car was struck by Louck's and pushed off the road, through the guard rail fence and down the embankment a distance of fifteen or twenty feet. Louck's story is that he was ahead and that his car was run into by that driven by Parker. Persons who examined the cars expressed the belief that the left front wheel of the Parker car had struck the rear wheel of the Louck car.

TWO STUDENTS HURT AT FOOTBALL BONFIRE

Capt. Tobin, of Varsity Eleven, in Hospital.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION

Torch Applied to Mammoth Pile of Lumber Saturated with 253 Gallons of Gasoline—Flames Shot into Crowds of Spectators.

While the several thousand students at Penn State College were celebrating with a monster bonfire Monday night the tie-score football game with Harvard on Saturday, there occurred one of the most unusual accidents ever reported and which resulted in painful and serious injuries to two students. One was Captain Elgia Tobin, Youngstown, Ohio., of the Penn State varsity football team, who will probably be unable to play the game for several weeks, thus seriously crippling the team at a critical stage of the season. The other student injured was George J. Sauerhoff, of Haddon Heights, N. J., president of the Sophomore class. Tobin and Sauerhoff were removed to the Bellefonte hospital, where they are receiving treatment. A third student suffered considerably from shock. There were scores of minor injuries. Numerous panes of glass in the Beta Theta Fraternity house were splintered.

Now that the accident has happened most of the students are at a loss to understand why their better judgment didn't prompt them to instantly vote down such a proposition as was undertaken. In their wild enthusiasm, however, they resorted to what proved to be a most foolhardy act. When the news was received from Cambridge on Saturday that Penn State had played a 13-13 game with Harvard, and had really been victors up to the last minute, when the Crimson team got away with a touchdown and goal, plans were at once undertaken for a big celebration on Monday night. A monster bonfire was planned. Fourteen telephone poles were erected in a circle, and then wired to one another, on Old Beaver Field, and an immense pile of barrels, boxes and lumber piled up probably twenty-five feet higher than the poles. So far everything moved without a hitch.

But a tie game with Harvard was an event of more than ordinary importance, and the students were determined to have a bonfire also out of the ordinary. Some one suggested that gasoline be poured over the mammoth pile of barrels and boxes, and this was taken up with a shout. It is said that 253 gallons of gasoline were hoisted in barrels to the top of the pile and the heads knocked in. Then when all was in readiness a student threw a torch into the pile of wood, which by this time was saturated from top to bottom with gasoline.

Instantly there was a terrific explosion. It was all so unlooked for that the army of students were struck speechless. The force of the explosion was so great that students standing fully one hundred feet distant thought the earth had jumped up into their faces. Burning barrels and boxes were hurled in all directions. Many students were thrown to the ground. Captain Tobin and Sauerhoff were standing some distance from the bonfire at the time of the explosion but happened to be directly in the path of a sheet of flames that shot out many feet. Both were burned on the face and hands. It was all over in a second, but in that brief period the two students received painful burns. The blaze was so brilliant that the reflection in the sky was observed in Bellefonte, many persons here thinking at first that some large barn was burning. Reports from the hospital are that the two students are resting comfortably but that they will be laid up fully two weeks.

Bi-Chloride Tablets Fatal.

Mary Beale, a Juniata woman, died at the Altoona hospital on Monday night from the effects of six bi-chloride tablets swallowed on Sunday afternoon. She took the tablets about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and when she became ill told her sister of what she had done. Physicians advised that she be removed to the Altoona hospital. There it was realized that she could not live and she died at the time noted. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Beale and was employed in the Juniata silk mill. She was 22 years old.

Opened New Sanitorium.

Last Sunday morning the doors of the State's third great Tuberculosis Sanitorium were opened to the patients at Hamburg. The magnificent institution which has been in the course of construction for the past year crowns a hilltop and commands a magnificent view of the Schuylkill Valley for miles in every direction.

The institution was inspected by Governor Tener and Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, Commissioner of Health, under whose direction it was planned and constructed.

The enormous demand and need for Sanitorium treatment by the ten thousand patients now being treated in the State Tuberculosis Dispensaries has made the construction of this new institution necessary. There are a thousand sufferers on the waiting list in addition to the eleven hundred and fifty patients being cared for at the Mont Alto Sanitorium and the four hundred in the institution at Cresson. Five hundred and fifty can be accommodated in the new Sanitorium which has been provided with every possible facility for the comfort and scientific treatment of the sufferers from this disease.

The general architectural treatment of the buildings is in the mission style. They are constructed of hollow tile and concrete.

The administration buildings occupy the center of the group and form a Greek cross which is flanked on either side by great ward buildings which are connected with the administration buildings by covered and glass enclosed passage ways. At either end of the wards are glass protected solaria.

An ingenious arrangement of the wards permits the care of either advanced or incipient cases as the demand may dictate. The roofs of the wards, some 22,000 square feet in area, have been paved to permit patients to enjoy rest and recreation in the open air without leaving the buildings. The buildings are so arranged as to provide the maximum amount of sun-light and air.

Beautiful views in every direction are obtainable from the institution, owing to its commanding location.

The grounds surrounding the Sanitorium comprise some three hundred and eleven acres, the greater portion of which is under cultivation and will supply much of the poultry, eggs and vegetables required.

A pure mountain stream, which flows through the State's property provides an adequate water supply and a complete sewerage filtration plant has been installed.

Williamsport Pastor Rebuked.

According to last Friday's Wilkes-Barre Record an effort to inject politics into the work of the Pennsylvania state Baptist general convention at Scranton Thursday morning resulted in the reprimanding of a Williamsport pastor with progressive tendencies, and the convention went on record as being positively opposed to the indorsement of any set of partisan candidates.

The introduction of a resolution condemning the liquor traffic and urging the support of all Baptists for such candidates pledged to support local option and the Shephard Hobson amendment to the constitution, precipitated the warmest discussion that had featured any of the convention sessions the week.

The dispute arose when Rev. Theodore Beck, of Williamsport, attempted to amend the resolution so that the names of Gifford Pinchot and the other state and county anti-saloon candidates would appear in the wording of the resolution. A score delegates were on their feet instantly attempting to secure the floor to voice protest against such action.

"God pity the time when it shall come to pass in a Baptist assembly that we freemen all, shall be dictated to as for whom we shall vote," was the reprimand of Rev. Dr. David Spencer, the venerable pastor of a large Philadelphia congregation.

To Encourage Study of Spanish.

In line with the country-wide movement to grasp the opportunities offered by the Panama Canal and the war in Europe for the expansion of United States trade in South America, J. G. White, president of the J. G. White Construction company, of New York, has established three scholarships in the Spanish language at the Pennsylvania State College. Mr. White was graduated from Penn State with the class of 1882. He offered the prizes as a stimulus to the students to fit themselves for handling Latin-American trade. His offer was accepted by the board of trustees.

Edward Hutchinson, Jr., of Philadelphia, has offered to supply a prize sword to be awarded to the company of the cadet battalion showing the highest efficiency at the annual spring inspection. Mr. Hutchinson is the proprietor of the Rose Valley farm in Delaware county, in honor of which he has already established several horticultural prizes at Penn State.

Killed Underneath Tree.

David Haines, 55 years old, was fatally crushed at Lewistown last Friday morning when a giant chestnut tree fell, crushing him to the earth. Haines stepped on the trunk of a large oak to trim out the limbs, when the chestnut fell without warning pinning the woodsman underneath, crushing the upper part of his body.

HOW TO VOTE
FOR A JUDGE

TO MARK BALLOT FOR FRANK M. TREXLER AN EASY MATTER

Candidates for the Supreme and Superior Courts of Pennsylvania will not appear in the party ballots at the November election. This is because the Act of 1913 makes the office of judge non-partisan, and the voter must choose between the men named for the office without regard to any party at all.

Judge Frank M. Trexler of Lehigh County is the Superior Court candidate who bids fair to be elected without difficulty. His name will be second on the ticket for Superior Court. He is a Lehigh Countian and in his 11 years on the bench of that county was sustained by the higher courts in nine out of ten of his decisions.

● What Is the Superior Court? ●

The Superior Court of Pennsylvania is the court which stands between the Court of Common Pleas and the Supreme Court. There are seven justices of the Superior Court, which meets each year in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Williamsport, and Scranton. During October, for example, the court will be holding sessions in Philadelphia.

The members of the Superior Court are Judge Head of Westmoreland County, Judge Henderson of Crawford County, President Judge Rice, Judge Orlady of Huntingdon County, Judge Porter of Allegheny County, Judge Kephart of Cambria County, and Judge Frank M. Trexler of Lehigh County.

Judge Trexler, appointed by the governor to fill the unexpired term of Gen. James A. Beaver, ran such a tremendous vote in the primary of May 19th that his total was almost as great as that of his three opponents combined. The judge's vote in his home county of Lehigh was very complimentary, all parties uniting to back him for the place. Judge Trexler occupied the Lehigh County bench for 11 years. Last May he carried 47 of the 67 counties of Pennsylvania.

Jurist's Fine Record

Judge Frank M. Trexler of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, a candidate for the place made vacant through the death of Gen. James A. Beaver, and nominated in the spring primary on the non-partisan ballot, has a record as a jurist which is, to say the least, an unusual one.

In 11 years on the bench of Lehigh County he was sustained by the higher courts in 90 per cent. of his decisions. That is to say, in cases appealed to the higher courts from Lehigh County Judge Trexler's opinions and findings were upheld by the upper bodies nine out of ten times.

Judge Trexler, or Frank Trexler, as he is known to his friends, was born in Allentown January 9, 1861. His father was the late Edwin Trexler, for many years a farmer, and afterward a lumberman who helped develop many sections of Pennsylvania. Judge Trexler was graduated from Allentown High School in 1876. In 1879 he was graduated with honors from Muhlenberg College at Allentown. He studied law and in 1882 was admitted to practice in the courts of Lehigh County. Within a short time he had built up a large practice. In November of 1903 he was elected to the Lehigh County bench. During the 11 years he presided over those courts he showed marked industry, court business was expedited and the docket cleared of old cases. This was done without the loss of that thoroughness which makes a good judge. The same thing is true of Judge Trexler since he became a member of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania. He should be elected November 3, 1914.

HELPFUL WORDS

From a Bellefonte Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful?
Does it ache especially after exertion?
Is there a soreness in the kidney region?
These symptoms suggest weak kidneys.
If so there is danger in delay.
Weak kidneys get fast weaker.
Give your trouble prompt attention.
Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.
Your neighbors use and recommend them.
Read this Bellefonte testimony.

"For many years I suffered from weak kidneys, caused by an injury," says Joshua Folk, of 119 East High St., Bellefonte. "I had swelling of my limbs, but the worst symptom was pain in my back. When there wasn't a sharp pain across my loins, there was a dull ache and I was very sore. The kidney secretions were too frequent and painful in passage. Finally, I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Green's Pharmacy Co., and they helped me more than anything else I ever tried."

Dr. Brumbaugh Nails a Lie.

While at Greensburg last Thursday Dr. M. G. Brumbaugh, Republican nominee for Governor, promptly nailed a slanderous lie published by a Clearfield newspaper. He effectually made it known that even in the midst of a heated campaign he would not allow his character to be assailed. His attention was called to an article published in the Clearfield newspaper in question, and after reading it Dr. Brumbaugh wrote out the following statement:—

"I have just been advised that Rev. Stough is reported in a Clearfield newspaper, dated October 20, as saying at DuBois:

"The gang who traveled with Brumbaugh when he made his tour through Clearfield county were half drunk. Brumbaugh himself was led from the club rooms and put to bed by Joe Bensinger, the leading hotel man of DuBois. And so it was all through the trip."

"I can scarcely believe that a so-called evangelist would write such a slanderous lie. I shall at once consult counsel and give him and the paper a reasonable time to make explanation and apology. It must be made decisively and as publicly as the libel was issued or I shall see that the full consequences of the law are meted out.

"Fortunately for me, my whole life is an effective and convincing answer to such a villainous slander. I am not and never have been a drinking man. The truth is that in this entire campaign I have not even been asked to touch liquor, and I have not at any time, at any place, tasted even a drop of any sort of intoxicating liquors.

"I do not intend to allow any one, even in the garb of a calling that ought to be heaven high above scandal, slander and lying, to reflect upon my reputation or attack my character."

J. R. Bixler, editor of the Clearfield Progress, with reference to the attack made by Evangelist Stoughton Friday sent the following telegram Dr. Brumbaugh to Uniontown:

"Hon. Martin Brumbaugh, Uniontown, Pa.: Regret publication of Stough's statement here Monday night regarding you. Have every reason to believe it was unwarranted.

"EDITOR THE PROGRESS."

Rev. Mr. Stough, when he learned that Dr. Brumbaugh intended to take action, declared that he never had intimated Mr. Brumbaugh was intoxicated. He intimated that his remarks had been misunderstood.

What Billy Sunday Says:

"Billy" Sunday, the noted evangelist, who is conducting a series of revival meetings at Huntingdon, W. Va., sends this message to Pennsylvania on the eve of the election:

"I am quite familiar with the splendid work of Dr. Brumbaugh and his attitude toward the church and its work, and it is most gratifying to find a man at the head of the Public Schools of a city like Philadelphia who stands four-square for righteousness."

Aged Hunter Bags Limit.

John Gantz, of Lewistown, three days past 90 years of age, shouldered his long barrel, muzzle loading rifle several days ago and walked a distance of eleven miles over the mountains bordering on the Juniata Valley. Gantz not only killed the limit, but the head was shot clean from every one of the six, a feat that could not be duplicated by any of the younger generation.

Gantz, was working on the Pennsylvania canal as a boatman in the fall of 1861 and when the water was drawn off for the winter he went to the recruiting station at Harrisburg to enlist in the Union army, but examining physicians said he was suffering from galloping consumption and would be dead in six months.

Penna. Leads in Odd Fellowship.

Presentation of reports featured the closing session last Friday of the grand encampment of Pennsylvania Odd Fellows at Pottstown. Thomas F. Gross, of Philadelphia, and Creon Cleque'ais, of Pittsburgh, representatives to the sovereign grand lodge, made a report showing the total income during the past year was $18,950,609.48, an increase of $27,851.20 over the previous year; total invested funds, $66,163,273.48.

Grand Scribe Ritter, of Philadelphia, reported that Pennsylvania leads in Odd Fellowship. It has 157,751 lodge members, while New York is second, with 126,394. It also leads in encampment membership, with 19,147, with Indiana second.

One of the final acts was the installation by Acting Grand Marshal W. D. Wiley, of Pittsburgh, of the following new officers: Grand patriarch, Samuel H. Pope, Philadelphia; grand high priest Edward W. Snyder, Shamokin; grand senior warden George B. McDowell, Pittsburgh; grand junior warden, George H. Banes, Philadelphia; grand scribe, Edwin L. Ritter, Philadelphia; grand treasurer, J. Henry Beitel, Philadelphia; grand marshal, James Roach, Philadelphia; grand sentinel, Charles Entwisle, Philadelphia; grand outside sentinel, Joseph W. Derr, Philadelphia.

New Grand Patriarch Pope of Philadelphia, was presented by his subordinate lodge with a traveling suitcase and by his encampment with a toilet set. The Shamokin encampment presented the new grand high priest, Snyder, with a bouquet of beautiful flowers. The special prize for exemplification of the second or the Golden Rule degree, was awarded to Temple encampment, No. 100.

Take Over Nittany Theatre.

The State College "Times" says: James P. Atkens, proprietor of the Nittany Theater, has disposed of his holdings to Messrs. J. L. Blackford and Morris Baum, the transfer taking place last week. Mr. Blackford has entire charge of the new house, which means that this popular resort will be up to the minute in motion picture specialties. The new firm will be known as the Nittany Theatre Company.

A decisive Republican victory all along the line next Tuesday will be a business tonic.

An impartial estimate places Centre County for Penrose by from 100 to 200 over Palmer, Pinchot running third. A vote of 65 to 75% in the county is predicted, the latter figure being contingent on fair weather prevailing.

If the Democratic managers are so allfired sure that free trade is the right thing, why are they now issuing statements pledging Mr. Palmer to aid in changing the Underwood-Wilson bill to make it less harmful to Pennsylvania industries?

We are about to see whether or not the Hon. Robert M. Foster, postmaster at State College by grace of one Mr. Palmer, really carries the Democratic vote of College borough and College township "in his vest pocket." Many a fellow has discovered too late that his pocket has a hole in it.

Palmer and McCormick in their campaign speeches say that everything is all right—that business is booming and working men have no cause for complaint. All right, any business man or working man who thinks that way should vote for Palmer and McCormick and free trade.

Seven hundred additional idle cars were last week stored on the Petersburg branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., between Hollidaysburg and Petersburg. They were mostly steel cars for hauling coal and coke. They will remain stored until there is a return to business prosperity. The one safe way to hasten prosperity is to vote the straight Republican ticket on Tuesday, next.

BAD (AND SAD) MEMORIES.

In its issue of August 13th, 1894, the New York "World" had an article headed "A Summer of Suffering" in which it piteously referred to the "cases of starvation" recorded in its pages "from day to day."

And six months before that date, on March 13th, 1894, it had printed a picture of the 'millionth loaf" that had been distributed even then through its free bread fund as a direct result of the election of Cleveland and his free trade Congress.

Truly some Democrats (including the Centre Democrat) have short memories.

Wireless to State College Democrats from the Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer: "Didn't I give you a postmaster?"

Lets see where we are at, now that the Democratic party has had ample opportunity to try out its policies. Reduced prices were promised us, but everybody realizes the cost of living is higher than ever. The Democratic party has levied an income tax. It has also inflicted upon us an additional tax of $105,000,000. The latter is called a war tax. The United States is not at war, so that it is a war tax imposed in a time of peace. It is called a war tax to fool the people. Just as is the income tax, it is a tax to cover up tariff deficiencies. Calling it any name other than its proper one does not change matters. You can call a dozen of bad eggs "strictly fresh", but they are bad eggs just the same.

PUTTING IT STRAIGHT.

DR. BARCHFELD, Republican candidate from the Pittsburg District, has issued a letter to his constituents, which includes the following:

"I want to submit these questions to the people in my District:—

1 What laboring man in my district has had his wages raised in the last eighteen months.

2 What working man has had more and continued employment during the same period.

3 What manufacturer in that time has increased or enlarged his plant.

4 What railroad in my district has increased its tonage during this period.

5 What business man in my district has extended his credit or enlarged his business in the same time.

6 Last, but not least, who could not deliberately and willingly go back to the days of the good old days of the Republican party, instead of the present and unsettled condition of laboring capital.

CHURCHMEN FOR DR. BRUMBAUGH

Clergy and Laymen Endorse His Candidacy.

WILL REDEEM PLEDGES

Leaders of Thought All Over State Urge Republican Candidate's Election, as He Stands Right on Local Option.

Philadelphia, Oct. 28. — Ministers who are the leaders in their denominations and laymen who stand in the forefront of church work have signed a statement of their unwavering faith in Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh. They are one and all of the opinion that he will carry into the governorship the same high standard of morals that has characterized his entire life, and that he will conscientiously redeem every pledge he has made in this campaign. These men who have volunteered to sign this declaration will be recognized from end to end of this state as representative of the great body of churchmen of this commonwealth.

Not only is Dr. Brumbaugh one of the nation's foremost educators, but he is a minister of the gospe, and has an international reputation as a Sunday school worker, having represented the United States at the great world conference held in Zurich, Switzerland, last year. The statement of confidence prepared by the churchmen is the most impressive document that has been issued in this campaign, and every signer is a man known for splendid achievement in the cause of temperance.

The full text of the statement which they have signed is as follows:

"Believing that the present campaign in our state of Pennsylvania is fraught with greater moral consequences to all our citizens than any other that has been held for many years, and fully realizing the many conflicting points of view held by men who are equally conscientious in their efforts to promote the cause of Local Option as the most urgent temperance measure now before our fellow citizens, we, the undersigned clergymen and laymen, representing many different religious beliefs and political parties, desire to make this brief statement:

"We sincerely deplore any action that may divide the real friends of temperance or cause any radical departure from the fundamental position of the Anti-Saloon League, which was designed to be 'unsectarian' and 'omni-partisan' in its character.

"The attempt to array the temperance forces of this state against Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, the candidate for Governor on one of the three great party tickets now before the people, we regard not only as most unwise, but also grossly unjust. Dr. Brumbaugh, in his platform announcing his candidacy for Governor of Pennsylvania, under date of March 14, 1914, said:

"'I have no entangling alliances of any sort. I am under no promise, no agreement, made or implied. I shall never be a party to any such thing. If elected, it must be with the definite understanding that I shall be entirely free to perform my official duties solely and steadily for the people as a whole. I shall reverently and humbly endeavor to do my duty in harmony with my conscience and under the guidance of the Divine. The problem of the liquor traffic is a vital one facing the people and the legislature today. In harmony with many thoughtful persons, I submit that local option is a practical solution. Any legislative measure looking to an improvement of the conditions regulating this traffic will receive my approval.'"

"Under date of March 27, 1914, in a letter addressed to Dr. E. J. Moore, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, he said:

"'I beg to acknowledge your letter of March 26, and to say that in harmony with the statement in my platform, I should feel it my duty to do what I honorably could to promote the passage in the next General Assembly of a county local option bill. I think I may safely add that my whole life would give you complete understanding of my attitude on the question submitted to me.'

"In order to make it impossible for any honest man to question his real attitude, Dr. Brumbaugh has recently declared in an address widely circulated:

"'The great corporations, employing thousands of our toilers, are increasingly insisting that their employes shall live soberly and economically. They have added to the moral the economic argument for such regulation of the liquor traffic as will secure the highest efficiency of our workers. For that reason, and because of its moral meaning, I have declared for local option in the matter of the sale of intoxicating liquors. Furthermore, I will use every honorable means at my disposal to secure the enactment of such a law, in order that the people may, in the several counties of the commonwealth, determine for themselves whether or not licenses shall be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors.

"'I wish particularly to state that I stand absolutely square and resolute and unchanged in the position I have taken in this matter, and I invite the sympathy and support of all fair-minded people. No candidate who is honest can do more and no candidate who is sincere can offer from his own record a better guarantee to the people of this commonwealth of his honest intention and determination to further this important measure. In this I am confident of the support of all fair-minded citizens.'

"In view of the above clear and emphatic expressions of Dr. Brumbaugh concerning his attitude toward the temperance cause, and knowing the personal characteristics of the man, which make his personal word better than any political platform that could be framed, we believe that the temperance voters of Pennsylvania, in voting for Dr. Brumbaugh, will be placing in the executive chamber at Harrisburg a man who will be a perfect Gibraltar of strength, not alone to the great local option movement, but to every other moral reform as well.

"We desire to emphasize the fact that seems to have been partially lost sight of, that with both of the candidates of the two great parties outspoken in favor of the local option measure, the really vital problem before the voters this fall is to elect a Legislature—irrespective of party—who shall be pledged to enact a local option measure, so that our next Governor may be able to sign such a measure."

BABYLON AND NINEVEH.

The Incident That Led Sir Henry Layard to Explore Their Ruins.

The first man to undertake extensive and important explorations among the ruins of Babylon and Nineveh was Sir Henry Layard. It was due to his friendship for a young man who had a great fear of seasickness that he was led to begin what was to be his life work. Layard was educated in the law and started for Ceylon to practice his profession.

He was accompanied by another lad, who had a horror of the ocean, and Layard readily agreed when his companion suggested that they make the trip by land across Europe, Asia Minor, Persia and India. It was while on this journey that Layard was inspired with the ambition to delve among the ruins of the ancient cities of Asia.

"When I first beheld the mounds of Nineveh," he wrote, "a great longing came over me to learn what was hidden within them."

He yielded to the desire and largely at his own expense carried on these excavations at Babylon and Nineveh, which were chiefly responsible for the discovery of the lost records and relics of a people who lived 3,000 years ago. Many cities and palaces, including the palace of King Nebuchadnezzar, were unearthed by Layard, and the most valuable treasures in the British museum serve to commemorate his name and fame.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Parting of the Ways.

It was over, then—the dream. The wife rose unsteadily and put on her hat.

She was weary—weary to the bone of it all—his threats, his unmanly evasions, his weak, despicable subterfuges.

But her eyes were resolute.

"It's no use, Henry," she said bitterly. "I'm going."

At the door she paused—paused with set lips and unpitying eyes, while he poured forth a husband's soul in one last anguished appeal.

"Think of me!" he cried desperately. "Think of your father and mine! Think of our son"—

"It's no use, Henry," she repeated wearily, as the door closed. "I shall vote the straight ticket."—Judge.

"Peg O' My Heart"

"Peg O' My Heart" and "Help Wanted" are two of New York's greatest successes. Manager Oliver Moroseo enjoys the proud distinction of being the producer of both of these plays, and they are among the booking at Garman's Opera House during the coming season. Doris Moore will be seen in her delightful rendition of the role of "Peg" in Hartley Manners exquisite play, surrounded by the same perfect cast that made "Peg O' My Heart", one of the great theatrical treats of the past season. The date for this attraction will be announced later.

SIDELIGHTS ON G. O. P. CANDIDATES

Senator Penrose is the Republican leader of the United States senate and regarded as the world's greatest expert on the tariff question.

Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh was born on a farm. He spent his early life as a farm hand and worked in his father's country store.

Hon. Frank B. McClain spent seven terms in the House of Representatives at Harrisburg. He was speaker of the house and is now mayor of Lancaster.

Before Dr. Brumbaugh graduated at the University of Pennsylvania he was placed on the faculty of that institution.

On two occasions Senator Penrose was practically offered the Vice Presidency of the United States, but he preferred to remain in the United Staes Senate.

Henry Houck started life as a shoemaker. When first named for Secretary of Internal Affairs he was Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Thomas S. Crago began life as an apprentice in a carriage shop.

Daniel F. LaFean started his career as a clerk in a notion store.

Mahlon M. Garland drove mules on a towpath.

John R. M. Scott sold newspapers on the streets of Wilkes-Barre.

IMPORTANT TO ALL REPUBLICANS

Heretofore the Republican column on the official ballot has been the first. THIS YEAR IT WILL BE THE THIRD COLUMN, and voters are cautioned against marking, inadvertently, for the candidates of other parties when they intend favoring the Republican ticket.

Voters should put their cross in the third column, if they want to vote the straight Republican ticket.

Concert at High School.

On Friday evening, November 6th, the Ithaca Conservatory of Music will give a recital in the Auditorium of the new High School Building.

The program will consist of monologues, impersonations, soprano solos, violin solos, piano solos, sketches, duets and trios. In addition there will be several scenes given from the best modern and classic plays in costume.

The evening's program will be a source of recreation, pleasure, and profit to those who attend. This concert company is on a tour of the eastern and southern states, and the High School authorities are fortunate to obtain the services of such a high-class production.

The proceeds of the entertainment will be for the benefit of the Athletic Association. Reserved tickets for 35c, and general admission tickets for 25c are being sold by the High School pupils. Each student selling three reserved or four general admission tickets will receive a football season ticket free. Everyone is urged to help this worthy project.

State Acquires 1123 Acres.

By the passing of the title from George S. Parsons and wife, of Tioga county, to the commonwealth of Pennsylvania of two tracts of land in Brown township the state forestry reserves in Lycoming county have been increased by 1,123 acres and 132 perches. The deed to the commonwealth was filed at the court house at Williamsport. The stated consideration was $3,090.52.

The land lies in a region once famous for its magnificent timber. Nature is now slowly repairing the ravages of the old-time lumbermen. The state already owns an immense area in that part of the county. During recent years heavy purchases of cut-over lands have been made throughout the whole mountain region of Lycoming and adjoining counties. The state now owns far in excess of 100,000 acres in Lycoming. The land just acquired is said to be underlaid with coal, although the veins are not believed to be large.

The new purchase is designed to protect the headwaters of small streams in the Pine Creek region.

"Is Christ Coming Back to Earth?"

There is no question that is more alive to-day than the question of Christ's Second Coming. The terrible things going on in the world are causing Christian people to take up anew the study of prophecy. For the next two months the evening services at the Presbyterian church will be taken up with the great questions which center around Christ's Second Advent. Dr. G. E. Hawes, the pastor, has announced the following series of sermons. November 1st, "The Lord Will Come Again"; November 8th, "The Two Age Programs"; November 15th, "The Last Days"; November 22d, "With the Lord in the Air"; November 29th, "The Great Tribulation"; December 6th, "Behold He Cometh"; December 13th, "The Millenium"; December 20th, "The Great Consummation"; December 27th, "Watch!" All services at 7:30 P. M. These sermons will cause much Bible study. You can't afford to miss them.

John Fulmer Dead.

Mildred, the 11 years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hughes, died last Friday at the Bellefonte hospital following an operation for appendicitis. She had been in poor health for some time. Funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon. The little girl's schoolmates adorned her casket with a huge boquet of crysanthemums.

GREAT VICTORY NOW ASSURED

Entire Republican State Ticket Will Be Elected.

BIG MAJORITY IN SIGHT

Republican State Chairman Crow Predicts Overwhelming Triumph For G. O. P. at the Election Next Tuesday and Explain the Reason.

Philadelphia, Oct. 27.—Nothing remains but the counting of the Republican majority. The entire Republican state ticket will sweep Pennsylvania next Tuesday in an overwhelming fashion. From every section of the state comes gratifying reports of the strong tide that has set in for the G. O. P., and it would not be surprising if the enemy is overwhelmed by a vote of from 150,000 to 200,000 votes.

Counties that have not gone Republican for ten or twelve years will next week register a repudiation of the Democrats and what is left of the Washington party. The great army of Pennsylvania voters have reached the conclusion that there is only one party that stands for protection to our industries and prosperity for all the people.

SENATOR WILLIAM E. CROW.
Chairman of the Republican State Committee.

"I would not be surprised," said Republican State Chairman William E. Crow today, "if as many as 150,000 Democrats would vote the straight Republican ticket. They are not only discouraged at the result of Democratic blundering at Washington, but disgusted with the Palmer-McCormick leadership in Pennsylvania—a leadership of selfishness and hypocrisy."

Continuing Senator Crow said: "This Democratic disaffection is not confined to any particular spot. It is of a general nature. Following the primary election, when the Palmer-McCormick crowd succeeded in defeating Ryan by the use of every low and despicable trick known in politics no effort was made to try and placate the large following of the Philadelphia attorney. Instead they were not only ignored, but insulted and given to understand that they were not wanted. As a result thousands of heretofore stalwart Democrats make no attempt to conceal the fact that they favor the Republican ticket and will vote it straight."

Back-to-Party Movement.

"The back-to-the-party movement among Republicans has been on since primary day. Men who years ago espoused the candidacy of Roosevelt and other Washington candidates will vote the Republican ticket next week. The reason is not hard to understand. These electors have discovered that Pennsylvania must stand for Republican principles if its mills and factories are to continue in operation. The total loss to American industry for the year ending June 30 last, traceable to the Underwood tariff law was $182,416,540, and the total loss for the single month of June was $32,812,561. This was, of course, before the European war, which the Democrats are now trying to hold responsible for the present hard times. Nothing from the Democratic press bureau or the White House can change or successfully contradict these facts—facts which spell disaster unless a change is made.

"The Republicans have conducted a dignified campaign and did not stoop to the level of the Democrats or the Washington Party men. If we had decided to enter upon a campaign of personalities we had any amount of ammunition to use from the day of the primary. But it was not necessary, first, because the dinner pail issue is more important and, secondly, because the people are familiar with the personnel of the enemy.

Hypocrisy of Palmer & Co.

"The hypocrisy of Palmer and McCormick in trying to gain the support of workingmen has not fooled the latter for a single moment. Men who toil know that Palmer has always been their bitter enemy and even accepted a fee to go to Harrisburg in 1907 and oppose their labor bills. As for McCormick, his hostility to the labor element has shown itself on scores of occasions. How he vetoed a bill, while mayor of Harrisburg, to increase the salary of day laborers 15 cents a day; his tearing the union label off his newspaper and the many editorial expressions in his person organ against the toiler are all known to the people, and his recent pretentions of friendship have not made him any votes among the masses of intelligent workingmen.

"I look for a big Republican victory next Tuesday, one that will emphasize the fact that Pennsylvania stands for the principles of protection and prosperity. Not only will the entire state ticket win, but the Republicans will gain a number of congressional districts that were lost two years ago."

Tragedy of a Mining Camp

How a Girl Became Her Champion's Defender

By F. A. MITCHEL

In a western miners' camp composed of a number of men and a few women, the latter mostly the wives of the former, was a girl about seventeen years old who belonged to no one. She was the property of the camp, not having a relative or a friend in it. Just how she happened to be there, where she had come from, what was her name, no one knew. They called her Madge, but who had given her the name was also unknown. If any one asked her about her antecedents she replied that she had grown up with the camp.

If Madge had been well dressed and clean she might have been considered comely, but since no one had seen her under these conditions it never occurred to those who saw her that she could be anything but homely. The only part of her person that was ever clean was her hands, and since this came from washing dishes they were usually greasy. She attached herself to a household to do its dirty work until the temper of her mistress rendered her position intolerable, when she would find another abiding place.

The men, who were as rough as the women, if they did not illtreat Madge, inflicted upon her their coarse jokes. When she was spoken to in a way calculated to hurt the feelings of any of her sex she would show no repugnance, no pain, though she never returned the insult in kind. If her hair was described as a mop she would neither take offense nor would she comb it.

There was a man called John in the camp whose position corresponded with Madge's, only Madge worked and John did not. He made a living no one knew how, though all admitted that he did not make it honestly. When persons desired to be facetious at Madge's expense she would be asked why she didn't make a match with John. The thrust was all the more cutting inasmuch as John was the only man in the camp who illtreated the girl other than with words. He would order her to perform menial services for him and, whether she obeyed or refused, would beat her.

One day John ordered Madge to blacken his boots. She obeyed, and when she handed them to him he swore at her for not having taken off the dirt before putting on the polish and struck her. It happened that a young man, a graduate of a school of mines who had come out to investigate some mining property, was walking through the camp and saw the blow. He had been an athlete of promise in his college days and quite capable of handling several men such as John both for courage and physical strength. Walking up to the latter, he gave him a cuff in the face.

"Take that for striking a woman," he said.

John glared at him, but did not return the blow. Tucker, the man who had cuffed him, stood for a few moments waiting for what was to follow then, since nothing followed, said to Madge, "If he illtreats you again let me know," and walked away.

A new being entered into Madge and took possession. Inwardly the story will tell what it was; outwardly it showed itself in cleanliness. She washed the dirt off her face, combed her hair and sewed together the rents in her garments.

The mining engineer was obliged to spend some time in the camp. He was much engrossed in his work and was not a man to take an interest in anything except that pertaining to a mining camp. The next time he saw Madge, tidied up and cheaply ornamented, he failed to recognize her. For the first time in her life a sad expression came over her face, but she passed on, and Tucker passed on, ignorant that he had caused her as much pain as he had before caused her pleasure.

A few days later Tucker was stopped by Madge. He looked at her with a puzzled expression, but this time she was not frightened away. She had something to say, and she said it.

"That galoot is laying for you."

"What galoot?"

"The one y' slapped in the jaw."

"Oh, I remember! You're the girl he struck, aren't you?"

"Yes."

She looked at him earnestly, but said nothing. She wished she knew how to express her gratitude, but she did not. However, Tucker understood her expression and said:

"Don't fail to let me know if he does it again. Next time I'll give him something to make him remember that a woman is to be respected."

Madge, who could talk only by her expression, showed plainly that her warning was a matter of importance, and she was troubled that her champion showed no disposition to heed it. She tried to say something, but whether it was through an embarrassment that was new to her or her consciousness of the uncouth manner of expressing herself she gave it up and went on her way. Tucker returned to what he had been thinking about before the interruption, and the incident passed out of his mind.

But what Madge had to say to Tucker was of too much moment to be omitted simply because she did not know how to talk to a gentleman. One day when he was sitting in the little cabin which served for an office and a lodging she appeared at the door.

"Y' didn't pay no 'tention to what I tole y' t'other day. Ef y' don't you'll git shot in the back. Don't go down the road to the Jackpot mine without lookin' about you."

"Who's to do the shooting?"

"John."

"The fellow I slapped for striking you?"

"Yes."

"Now, look here, my girl. Don't you go about worrying for fear that miserable coward is going to bother me. He hasn't the pluck of a mouse."

"It don't require no pluck to shoot a man in the back."

"Well, since you seem to think the matter is serious I promise you to be on my guard."

But the promise was forgotten as soon as made. A week passed and nothing happened. Tucker was getting near the end of his professional work and expected to leave the camp in a few days. One afternoon—it was the day before his appointed leaving—he started for the Jackpot mine, which was his field of labor, for some articles he had left there and which he wished to take away with him. As he walked along his mind, now freed from his duties, fell upon Madge and her warning.

"If a man is going to consider," he mused, "the dangers that threaten him in this world he'll never have time for anything else. Only timid persons are troubled by the threats of cowards. If that fellow had had any disposition to injure me he would have shown it when I cuffed him."

He was approaching a turn in the road, and at the moment he heard the crack of some weapon very near and directly ahead of him. He ran forward to see what it meant, but before he reached the turn there came another crack. He rounded some trees and saw a woman lying in the road with a rifle beside her. Stooping over her, he saw that she was Madge. Looking about for the cause of her being there, he caught a glimpse of John running like a deer through the wood.

For a moment he hesitated between the man and the girl; but, remembering that the former would keep and the latter needed his attention, he raised her. She was drawing the last breaths of life, but she knew him. There was a look in her face of one who was dying in place of the man who would have died had she not accepted the sacrifice.

Tucker held her while her life ebbed and when it was over carried her in among the trees and laid her down till he could go for assistance.

Madge was removed to the camp. All importuned Tucker as to who had killed her. Tucker made no reply. He was satisfied that John had not seen him and looked for the murderer to remain about the camp, expecting that his deed would be a mystery. Tucker did not intend that a court or even Judge Lynch should try John. Both were liable to err. He knew the facts and would not err. This girl had warned him and, finding that he would not heed the warning, had constituted herself his defender. John had been on the road to kill him. Madge had waylaid the would be murderer, shots had been exchanged, and Madge had been the victim.

When Madge was laid away John was present in the camp, though he did not attend the burial. When all was over Tucker, unseen by the others, beckoned the murderer to follow him and started away into a wood. John paled, hesitated, then went after Tucker. When they had reached a place where they would be neither heard nor seen Tucker turned and said:

"If you are armed throw away your weapon. I am unarmed."

John did as he was directed.

"Now," added Tucker, "I am going to avenge the girl you murdered and with my muscles, unaided by knife or revolver."

Half an hour later Tucker went back to the camp, told what he knew about the murder and said that John's body would be found in the wood.

Several went and buried it. Tucker left for home.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION SUBMITTED TO THE CITIZENS OF THE COMMONWEALTH FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION, BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH, IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Number One.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to section one, article eight of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met: That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That section one of article eight, which reads as follows:

"Section 1. Every male citizen twenty-one years of age, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at all elections, subject, however, to such laws requiring and regulating the registration of electors as the General Assembly may enact:

"First. He shall have been a citizen of the United States at least one month.

"Second. He shall have resided in the State one year (or, having previously been a qualified elector or native-born citizen of the State, he shall have removed therefrom and returned, then six months) immediately preceding the election.

"Third. He shall have resided in the election district where he shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election.

"Fourth. If twenty-two years of age and upwards, he shall have paid within two years a State or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election," be amended so that the same shall read as follows:

Section 1. Every citizen, male or female, of twenty-one years of age, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at all elections, subject, however, to such laws requiring and regulating the registration of electors as the General Assembly may enact:

First. He or she shall have been a citizen of the United States at least one month.

Second. He or she shall have resided in the State one year (or, having previously been a qualified elector or native-born citizen of the State, he or she shall have removed therefrom, and returned then six months) immediately preceding the election.

Third. He or she shall have resided in the election district where he or she shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election.

Fourth. If twenty-two years of age and upwards, he or she shall have paid within two years a State or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election.

Fifth. Wherever the words "he," "his," "him," and "himself" occur in any section of article VIII of this Constitution the same shall be construed as if written respectively, "he or she," "his or her," "him or her," and "himself or herself."

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to section eight of article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:—

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of wharves and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia current net revenues in excess of the interest on said debt or debts, and of the annual installments necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted: Provided, That a sinking-fund for their cancellation shall be established and maintained," so that it shall read as follows:—

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation. The city of Philadelphia, upon the conditions hereinafter set forth, may increase its indebtedness to the extent of three per centum in excess of seven per centum upon such assessed valuation for the specific purpose of providing for all or any of the following purposes,—to wit: For the construction and improvement of subways, tunnels, railways, elevated railways, and other transit facilities; for the construction and improvement of wharves and docks and for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves and docks, owned or to be owned by said city. Such increase, however, shall only be made with the assent of the electors thereof at a public election, to be held in such manner as shall be provided by law. In ascertaining the borrowing capacity of said city of Philadelphia, at any time, there shall be excluded from the calculation a credit, whose the work resulting from any previous expenditure, for any one or more of the specific purposes hereinabove enumerated shall be yielding to said city an annual current net revenue; the amount of which credit shall be ascertained by capitalizing the annual net revenue during the year immediately preceding the time of such ascertainment. Such capitalization shall be accomplished by ascertaining the principal amount which would yield such annual, current net revenue, at the average rate of interest, and sinking-fund charges payable upon the indebtedness incurred by said city for such purposes, up to the time of such ascertainment. The method of determining such amount, so to be excluded or allowed as a credit, may be prescribed by the General Assembly.

In incurring indebtedness, for any one or more of said purposes of construction, improvement, or reclamation, the city of Philadelphia may issue its obligations maturing not later than fifty years from the date thereof, with provision for a sinking-fund sufficient to retire said obligation at maturity, the payments to such sinking-fund to be in equal or graded annual installments. Such obligations may be in an amount sufficient to provide for and may include the amount of the interest and sinking-fund charges accruing and which may accrue thereon throughout the period of construction and until the expiration of one year after the completion of the work for which said indebtedness shall have been incurred; and said city shall not be required to levy a tax to pay said interest and sinking-fund charges, as required by section ten of article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, until the expiration of said period of one year after the completion of such work.

Number Three.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to section twenty-one of article three of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

Amend section twenty-one, article three of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:

"No act of the General Assembly shall limit the amount to be recovered for injuries resulting in death, or for injuries to persons or property, and in case of death from such injuries, the right of action shall survive, and the General Assembly shall prescribe for whose benefit such actions shall be prosecuted. No act shall prescribe any limitations of time within which suits may be brought against corporations for injuries to persons or property, or for other causes different from those fixed by general laws regulating actions against natural persons, and such acts now existing are avoided," so that it shall read as follows:

The General Assembly may enact laws requiring the payment by employers, or employers and employees jointly, of reasonable compensation for injuries to employees arising in the course of their employment, and for occupational diseases of employees, whether or not such injuries or diseases result in death, and regardless of fault of employer or employee, and fixing the basis of ascertainment of such compensation and the maximum and minimum limits thereof, and providing special or general remedies for the collection thereof; but in no other cases shall the General Assembly limit the amount to be recovered for injuries resulting in death, or for injuries to persons or property, and in case of death from such injuries, the right of action shall survive, and the General Assembly shall prescribe for whose benefit such actions shall be prosecuted. No act shall prescribe any limitations of time within which suits may be brought against corporations for injuries to persons or property, or for other causes, different from those fixed by general laws regulating actions against natural persons, and such acts now existing are avoided.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania abolishing the office of Secretary of Internal Affairs.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That article four of the Constitution of Pennsylvania shall be amended by adding thereto section twenty-three, which shall read as follows:—

The office of Secretary of Internal Affairs be, and the same is hereby, abolished; and the powers and duties now vested in, or appertaining or belonging to, that branch of the executive department, office, or officer, shall be transferred to such other departments, offices, or officers of the State, now or hereafter created, as may be directed by law.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of this Commonwealth in accordance with provisions of the eighteenth (XVIII) article thereof.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth (XVIII) article thereof:—

AMENDMENT.

Laws may be passed providing for a system of registering, transferring, insuring of and guaranteeing land titles by the State, or by the counties thereof, and for settling and determining adverse or other claims to and interests in lands the titles to which are so registered, transferred, insured, and guaranteed; and for the creation and collection of indemnity funds; and for carrying the system and powers hereby provided for into effect by such existing courts as may be designated by the Legislature, and by the establishment of such new courts as may be deemed necessary. In matters arising in and under the operation of such system, judicial powers, with right of appeal, may be conferred by the Legislature upon county recorders and upon other officers by it designated. Such laws may provide for continuing the registering, transferring, insuring, and guaranteeing such titles after the first or original registration has been perfected by the court, and provision may be made for raising the necessary funds for expenses and salaries of officers, which shall be paid out of the treasury of the several counties.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to section eight, article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof.

Amendment to Article Nine, Section Eight

Section 2. Amend section eight, article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:—

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of wharves and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia current net revenue in excess of the interest on said debt or debts and of the annual installments necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted: Provided, That such indebtedness incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia shall not at any time, in the aggregate, exceed the sum of twenty-five million dollars for the purpose of improving and developing the port of the said city and county, by the condemnation, purchase, or reclamation or lease of land on the banks of the Delaware and Schuylkill rivers, and land adjacent thereto; the building of bulkheads, and the purchase or construction or lease of wharves, docks, sheds, and warehouses, and other buildings and facilities, necessary for the establishment and maintenance of railroad and shipping terminals along the said rivers; and the dredging of the said rivers and docks: Provided, That the said city and county shall, at or before the time of so doing, provide for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest thereon, and also the principal thereof within fifty years from the incurring thereof.

A PAINTERS' PARADISE.

Capri's Quaint Inn, Where Poor Artists Can Get Free Board.

Capri, beautiful in itself, offers an irresistible invitation to artists, since it has an inn where any one, by painting a picture on the wall, can get free board.

To the lovely island of Capri, with its perennial summer, its blue grotto and its lemon groves, came some fifty years ago a ruined artist. He opened an inn and died rich. In his will, leaving the inn to his heirs, he made these conditions:

"The charge per day, two bottles of red Capri wine included, is never to be more than 6 francs.

"If any artist is too poor to pay he shall paint a picture upon some wall space, receiving all the accommodation accorded to those paying the highest price.

"If any German artist shall come to the inn he shall be accommodated and shall receive the amount of his fare to Germany upon his promising never to return to Italy."

The inn is conducted today on these conditions. Its walls are covered with paintings. Now and then a German artist gets his fare home.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

There With the Answer.

In a public school one afternoon the teacher was instructing a class in physiology, and finally, in order to test the memory of the youngsters, she closed the book and began to ask questions.

"Willie," said she, addressing a bright faced boy near the head of the class, "can you give me a familiar example of the human body as it adapts itself to changed conditions?"

"Sure!" was the confident rejoinder. "My uncle Jake gained fifty pounds in less than one year, and his skin never cracked."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

DECLARES ISSUE IS BRUMBAUGH

Former Washington Party Man Flays Intriguers.

CANNOT FOOL THE VOTERS

Defeat of Republican Nominee Would Be Calamity to State.

Philadelphia, Oct. 27—Taking a firm stand in favor of the election of Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, Republican nominee for Governor, Henry A. Bomberger, of Bala, Pa., who was one of the original founders of the Washington party, in an interview declares that in the present campaign the issue is a matter of a man.

"Strong, clean, without reproach, of unblemished character and high ideals, whose record is stainless and whose life is an open book, who has rendered his day and generation exceptional and distinguished service in city, state and nation," said Mr. Bomberger in referring to Dr. Brumbaugh.

"The strongest and most trustworthy individual force in public life for public righteousness in the commonwealth of Pennsylvania today is Martin G. Brumbaugh, and I do not hesitate to say that some of the social and religious leaders of this state are either absolutely insincere or are easily duped if they continue to allow such elements as are represented in the east by Van Valkenburg and in the west by Flinn to dominate or seduce them," said Mr. Bomberger.

"You may accept that statement as coming from a 'founder' of the Progressive party, who did his duty as such, to the best of his ability, stumping this state at his own personal expense, and with no axe to grind, in the historic campaign of 1912. In that campaign the presidential nominee of the Chicago (Republican) convention was, to me, for broad moral reasons, simply impossible, and the opposing nominee of the Baltimore (Democratic) convention, for well-known economic reasons, entirely undesirable. My personal choice, therefore, fell upon Roosevelt because he seemed to be, all in all, for that time and occasion, as the nominee of the Progressive party, the best man in the field.

"Great principles certainly enter into the considerations that lead to any such change of front; yet principles in the concrete rather than in the abstract—principles vitalized by men, or a man—principles transformed into personality, life and action. In all the history of human uplift and advancement where great principles have triumphed we see a man.

Matter of Men.

"And in the present political campaign it is a matter of men—a man—strong, clean, without reproach, of unblemished character and high ideals, whose record is stainless and whose life is an open book, who has rendered his day and generation unexceptionable and distinguished service, in city, state and nation, a veritable tower in a plain.

"Shall he be ridiculed, reviled and spit upon simply because he sitteth at meat in one or two instances with certain who are denounced by some as 'publicans and sinners?' Shall he be condemned and beaten simply because he politely but positively declined (as he did) to 'go along' with Flinn and Van Valkenburg?

"A Bull Moose friend said to me: 'We like Brumbaugh, but we do not like the company he is in.' And this friend is a religious leader among the Dunkards, one of Brumbaugh's own brethren. I ventured to remind him that that criticism was as old as Christendom, and the purpose of it perfectly transparent. The real purpose of that criticism is to conceal and to divert the attention of the people from the baseness of those who originate or utter it. The people have often been deceived by it. Will they be deceived by it again?

Enemy of Saloon.

"Personally I have been an enemy of the saloon ever since the first ballot I ever cast was with the Prohibition party. I hate rum and hypocrisy. And it makes me heartily sick to see even the religious leaders of Pennsylvania, here and there, utterly misled, turning maliciously upon Martin G. Brumbaugh (easily one of the very strongest and best of their own number) under the influence of false reports and the pernicious leadership of certain self-styled 'reformers' full of insincerity and violence.

"They want good men for office, but when a real prince among men comes forward out of their own ranks, sound as a dollar, morally, religiously, and as to his political and economic principles and theories, they would cast him out of their synagogue and stone him. By what strange delusions are many good men misled!

"It would be a moral and industrial calamity as well as a deep reproach to this great state should such sinister and deceitful influences succeed in defeating Dr. Brumbaugh. And those who know the real character and animus of certain of the opposition, that is lying in wait and scheming to lead away some of our chief religious elements with a wild and passing strange delusion, pray God that their evil designs and machinations may speedily be brought to naught.

"Yet we do not believe that the really intelligent, patriotic and upright people of Pennsylvania are going to allow themselves to be 'played' and duped by political intriguers in sheep's clothing."

NOVEMBER 3d

NEW YEAR'S IN CHINA.

When All Debts Are Paid and the Whole Country "Painted Red."

New Year's is the national pay day in China. All accounts must be squared up at that time, and the man who can't raise money enough to pay his debts has to go into bankruptcy. The laws are such that the creditor can enter the debtor's house and take what he pleases if there is no settlement. To prevent such action families club together and make all sorts of compromises to keep up the business reputation of the clan.

New Year's is a great day for the pawnbrokers. Their shops are crowded with people who want to redeem their best clothes before the new year. There are crowds, also, who want to pawn other things in order to get money to pay their debts. Pawnbrokers receive high rates of interest, in which they are protected by the government.

The Chinese paint the whole country red, figuratively speaking, on New Year's day in more senses than one. Red is the color which with them denotes good luck and prosperity, and all the New Year cards and invitations are on paper of that color. Every child gets its New Year's present wrapped in red paper, and red inscriptions are pasted over the doors of the houses.

These inscriptions bear characters praying for good fortune, wealth and happiness, and they are posted on each side of the outer doors of the houses. New pictures of Chinese generals are put on the front doors, and the houses are scoured and made clean.—Exchange.

The Test of Art.

Where the weakness of the artistic life really lies is that it is often not taken up out of mere communicativeness and happy excitement, as a child tells a breathless tale, but as a device for attracting the notice and earning the applause of the world, and then it is on a par with all other self regarding activities. But if it is taken up with a desire to give rather than to receive as an irrepressible sharing of delight it becomes not a solemn and dignified affair, but just one of the most beautiful and uncalculating impulses in the world.—A. C. Benson in Century Magazine.

Trimmed the Indians.

The Bellefonte Academy football eleven had no trouble in trimming the Carlisle Indian Reserves on Hughes Field, last Saturday afternoon. In fact, the game was so one-sided that friends of the Academy were disappointed. The local team scored after the first few minutes of play, and from that time on it was a case of marching down the field, the final result being, 45—0. The Indians had held the strong Mercersburg eleven 6—0, and most persons looked for a close game with the Academy, with the latter lucky to escape with a tie score at best. But the Academy eleven was trained to the minute and fit to clash with the average college team, and the result was that the Indians soon became a bunch of astonished, if not bewildered, players. They were so hopelessly outclassed that after the first few minutes of play they rarely attempted the open style of play, whereas the Academy pulled off numerous long runs and several neatly executed forward passes.

Next Saturday, October 31st. the Academy plays the Bloomsburg State Normal on the Hughes Field, the game being scheduled for 3 o'clock. Bloomsburg has been putting up a strong game this year and is coming to Bellefonte with the expectation of winning. If the Academy plays the game she did last Saturday, in the judgment of local followers, Bloomsburg is due to be disappointed.

Bellefonte High School and State College High School played at State College last Saturday, but the game was not finished. Neither side scored. The game had been under way for some time when State College High School insisted on substituting several new players whose eligibility was questioned by Coach Gilligan, of Bellefonte.

Penn State College tied Harvard, a Cambridge, 13—13, on Saturday. It was only in the last minute of play that Penn State was deprived of a victory over the crimson. Up to that point the score had stood 13—6, in Penn State's favor, and many persons had left the stands thinking that Harvard was surely a loser. Harvard, however, worked the old fashioned double pass and scored a touchdown, also kicking the goal and thus tieing the score.

Not to Amputate Foot.

Reports from the Bellefonte hospital are to the effect that Jack Dillen, of near Jacksonville, who was injured in an accident at the John Lyon saw mill last week, is recovering nicely. It was at first feared that amputation of one foot would be necessary, but this danger has passed and it is expected he will be able to be about in a short time.

CONFESSED LARCENY

Frank Harris Admits Robbing John Mulfinger and J T. Noll.

Chief Dukeman on Tuesday went to Lock Haven and took charge of Frank Harris, who had been picked up on information furnished by the local authorities Monday night. On Wednesday evening Harris was given a hearing before Squire Brown, at which time he plead guilty to a charge of larceny. He was taken back to jail to await sentence.

Harris is a painter. In May, last, he was employed by J. T. Noll, of Pleasant Gap, and boarded at John Mulfinger's place. On May 30th he skipped out, taking with him a suit of clothes, a silk skirt, pair of white stockings and shoes and a shirt. Mr. Noll was engaged at the time with a painting job at the G. Murry Andrews home, in Bellefonte. He discovered that Harris had taken a set of paint brushes, putty knives, etc. Chief Dukeman sent a description of Harris to nearby towns. Harris was in Lock Haven during the week of the carnival there a short time ago, but he eluded detection. On Monday night, however, he was picked up. Realizing that the odds were against him he concluded to make a clean breast of his guilt and take his punishment.

Woman's Suffrage Convention.

A convention will be held of the Woman's Suffrage Party of Centre County, at the residence of Mrs. Robert Mills Beach, 19 West Linn St. Bellefonte Pa. on Saturday, Oct. 31st, at 3 P. M.

After the transaction of business, Miss Hannah J. Patterson, chairman of the Woman's Suffrage Party of Penna, will address the convention. All members are requested to be present punctually at three o'clock, and all others who would care to hear Miss Patterson are cordially invited to attend.

Miss Patterson is also second vice president of the Pittsburg Equal Franchise Federation. She has worked with her whole heart and time for Woman's Suffrage for several years, and believed in it since her college days. Like so many other women who are doing constructive civic work, Miss Patterson realized how necessary the ballot is for quick, effective result of effort. In her own district of Pittsburg, she has been a Civic Club director of the Juvenile Court, Executive Secretary of the Consumers League, an active student of politics, child labor, and other subjects in which her happy fitness in education and nature make her so valuable "Every step of my life has led me deeper into the realization of the tremendnous need for Equal Suffrage, all my social interests have led straight to legislation", says Miss Patterson, when the question "why" is put to her. Governor Tener appointed Miss Patterson a trustee of the mothers pension fund for Allegheny County.

Possessed of a magnetic personality, a quiet dignity underneath, a delightful sense of humor, and wide sympathy, Miss Patterson's success in public work for good is a foregone conclusion—she is trusted, liked, and welcomed again and again where ever she goes.

To Sew for Sufferers.

At a rally meeting of the W. C. T. U., held on last Thursday, a plan was discussed to sew for the women and children of the European war sufferers. It was thought to be a good plan to have each church Ladies' Aid Society sew in their own societies. The meeting was very well attended by representative women of the town, and the following committees were appointed: A General Committee, to cut and give out garments to each society. This committee will be composed of Mrs. J. Thomas Mitchell, chairman; Mrs. D. I. Willard, Mrs. John Porter Lyon. A Purchasing Committee, to be composed of Mrs. G. R. Spigelmyer, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Derstine.

Contributions of money, new clothing, stockings, shoes, flannel, warm underwear, etc., may be left at the W. C. T. U. rooms any afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock until further notice.

Put your hand in your pocket and then stretch it out to these homeless and helpless women and children and old men.

Don't delay, for often, under such circumstances, one day spells the difference between life and death.

Woman Injured by Horse.

While attending a baseball game at Beech Creek last Saturday, Mrs. Edward Green, of Howard, was painfully injured by a fractious horse. For some unknown cause the horse, which she was driving, became unmanageable and was thrown to the ground. Mrs. Green attempted to subdue the animal when it made a lunge forward and struck her on the right arm. One of the bones of the arm was fractured. She was removed to her home in an automobile after the fracture had been reduced.
